Challenge

Chalmers Ventures is a public Swedish entity specializing in coaching, financing, network, and business development. Located in Göteborg, it offers incubation, startup camps and other specialized coaching and access to financing to those who have a business idea.

Chalmers Ventures make very early stage investments in companies within their processes. As the companies move forward, they look for co-investors to match with the startups. With more than 15 years of experience, they start approximately 12 projects a year and have many startups in their portfolio.

Solution

We were helping with testing and QA assurance of a project for one of the client's startups.

Our main activities:

- reviewing existing and new test plan,

- verifying code quality metrics using static code analytics,

- proceeding and testing activities based on the test plan,

- covering all major test cases, report all bugs into bug tracking system.

We have also extended client's iOS mobile application by adding many new functionalities such as homescreen view, profile pages, lookbook, shopping list, location, push notifications, analytics etc.
